Singapore has successfully reaped ~~the~~ substantial economic progress and development, in an era in which there is a proliferation in globalisation and technology. However, despite the economic progress that Singapore has made, many concerns for the ~~increase~~ widening of the socio-economic divide have started to arise. As Singapore ~~advanced~~ continues to grow in the area of higher-value added services, we find that there are many who become eradicated due to the lack of opportunities. ~~We~~ The people who are equipped with a lower level of education are undermined because of their mismatch of skills between the demands of the economy and their skills. This, this causes an apparent income disparity between the rich & poor. The ~~A~~ notion of individualism and merritocracy further cultivates disillusions of elitism and self-centredness, in which a regression of a moral code is seen. Thus, this exaggerates the adverse effects of the socio-economic divide seen in our modern society.
